The European Bank for Reconstruction and Development: In late 2021, EBRD launched a €1 billion loan program for Ukraine, which began in 2022. The bank has committed €888 million in loans and aims to triple that by the end of 2022. It will focus on economic development, transition, trade, and energy security.

The International Monetary Fund: The IMF has disbursed two rounds of emergency financial support to Ukraine. In April, it approved $5.5 billion in loans and aims to triple that by the end of 2022. The IMF’s goal is to work with Ukrainian authorities on “a comprehensive macroeconomic framework, with policy conditions allow,” according to IMF Managing Director Kristalina Georgieva. Its goal is to work with Ukrainian authorities on “a comprehensive macroeconomic framework, with policy conditions allow,” according to IMF Managing Director Kristalina Georgieva.

The European Commission: The EU has pledged €6 billion in loans and aims to triple that by the end of 2022. The EU will provide €2 billion in loans to Ukraine and aims to triple that by the end of 2022. The EU will also provide €1 billion in guarantees to support private lending.

The United States: The US has pledged $6 billion in loans and aims to triple that by the end of 2022. The US will provide $2 billion in loans to Ukraine and aims to triple that by the end of 2022. The US will also provide $1 billion in guarantees to support private lending.
